Detailed Project Description and Justification:

Due to the age of the well pumps, closeness of the 2 city wells to one another and antiquated well control systems, the City will face periods where it may not be able to meet water demand. If the at he water system promised water demands is rehabilitating and upgrading the well control system. tcity cannot guarantee a reliable water supply, it will make North Pole an unfavorable place for residential, commercial and industrial development which will negatively affect the City's economic growth potential.

The initial well was drilled in 1972 and what is now the primary well was drilled in the early 1980's. The drinking water treatment plant was constructed in 1985. Because of the age of the mechanical components in the water plant, it is difficult to get replacement parts. A high priority that needs to be addressed to ensure that the water system can meet promised water demands is rehabilitating and upgrading the well control systems.
